Performance

Performance

Based on transaction prices, the fund's return was -0.37%.

Over the month of August, the fund outperformed its benchmark (gross of fees). While the overweight duration position was more or less flattish to performance over August, yield curve positioning again contributed. Although we think the ECB is done cutting for now, risks to yields are tilted to the downside, as Europe seems vulnerable to a possibility of a renegotiation of the US-EU trade deal because of the digital sales tax. Most of the steepening is taking place in long and ultralong maturities, which continues to be impacted by more issuance and changing pension regulations. Country positioning also contributed. Especially the underweight position in French government bonds contributed, while overweight positions in the Netherlands, Italy and Greece detracted somewhat.

Market development

Government bond returns were mixed in August, with US Treasuries (+0.8%) gaining, while European government bonds were down somewhat. German Bunds ended the month down -0.2%. Weak US payrolls explain most of the strong returns of US Treasuries. Front-end US yields rallied, but the curve steepened as the market is getting increasingly worried about Fed independence. In Europe, rates rose after ECB officials commented on a prolonged pause in the easing cycle. French PM Francois Bayrou spooked markets by announcing a vote of confidence on his government on 8 September. OAT spreads widened and dragged other spread markets along. This came after a long period of spread tightening for periphery bonds. Curves steepened in Europe, as an expected increase in issuance meets a weakening pension fund demand for long-end bonds. On credit ratings, there was positive and negative news. Portugal got upgraded to A+ by S&P and Austria (Aa1) saw its outlook change to negative by Moody's. Both events had little direct impact on spreads.

Expectation of fund manager

The Fed is expected to cut interest rates at its September meeting. A 25-bps cut is fully priced for this meeting, as well as three additional cuts by June next year. We agree with these expected cuts. The attempts to push the Fed into more cuts and undermine independence are a growing concern. This could increase the inflation risk and should lead to a higher risk premium in longer-term bonds. For the ECB, we expect rates to remain unchanged for now. Market pricing has been reflecting this view, which has created more attractive entry levels for overweight duration positions. Still, EGB curves could steepen as well, especially in longer-dated maturities. Issuance is expected to increase, while demand for longer-dated bonds is seen to slow. French OATs will likely continue to suffer from a lack of political agreement on reducing the fiscal deficit. We expect French bonds to continue to underperform versus peers, such as Spain and Italy.

Sector allocation

Robeco Euro Government Bonds predominantly invests in euro-denominated government and government-related bonds issued by Eurozone countries or affiliated entities. Exposure to highly rated SSA bonds amounts to approximately 17%. ESG factors are considered when assessing the fundamental credit quality of individual issuers. At the end of the month, around 22% of the fund was invested in green, social, and sustainable bonds.

Duration allocation

The fund has an overweight duration position, expecting yields to decline. The overweight duration position is located in the belly of the curve, predominantly in the 5 to 10-year area. The biggest conviction position in the fund still is in curve steepeners. The fund has steepeners in 5s30s, 10s30s, 20s30s and 20s50s, expecting ultralong-dated bond yields to rise further due to more issuance (more fiscal spending by governments) and due to changing pension regulations in the Netherlands. The fund holds a small overweight position in both the UK and the Czech Republic, and a 5s10s curve steepener position in Norway. Besides that, the fund holds a small position in Polish hard currency (EUR) government bonds.

Rating allocation

The fund is approximately 37% invested in AAA-rated bonds, primarily comprising German and Dutch government bonds, as well as high-quality government-related bonds such as those issued by the EU, BNG, and KfW. In terms of duration, the fund has an overweight in Italian government bonds (BBB-rated) and is also overweight in Spanish government bonds (A), albeit reduced. The fund holds an underweight position in France (AA) and an overweight position of approximately 2% in Greek government bonds (BBB) and circa 3% in Bulgarian government bonds (BBB).

Country allocation

Within country positioning, the fund holds overweight positions in Greece, Spain and Italy, versus underweight positions in France and Belgium. During the month, we reduced the overweight in Spain and in the Netherlands, locking in gains after a prolonged period of spread tightening. Within government-related bonds, we have selectively taken profit by selling names that have become quite expensive, such as KfW and BNG. We continue to like EU bonds, although they underperformed a bit after index provider ICE announced to not (yet) include the name in their sovereign indices. The fund has a sizeable position in Bulgarian government bonds, which will be included in the EGB indices in 2026Q1, after the European Commission approved this summer the accession of Bulgaria as 21st member of the Eurozone per January 2026. This likely means more investors need to step into the Bulgarian bond market by that time.

Sustainability

The fund incorporates sustainability in the investment process via exclusions, negative screening, ESG integration and a minimum average country sustainability ranking score as well as a minimum allocation to ESG-labeled bonds. The fund complies with Robeco's exclusion policy for countries and does not invest in countries where serious violations of human rights or a collapse of the governance structure take place, or if countries are subject to UN, EU or US sanctions. In addition, the fund excludes the 15% worst ranked countries following the World Governance Indicator 'Control of Corruption'. In the portfolio construction the fund ensures a minimum weighted average score of 6.5 following Robeco's proprietary Country Sustainability Ranking. The Country Sustainability Ranking scores countries on a scale from 1 (worst) to 10 (best) based on 40 environmental, social, and governance indicators. Lastly, the fund invests in a minimum of 10% in green, social, sustainable and/or sustainability-linked bonds. For more information please visit the sustainability-related disclosures. The portfolio's aggregate intensity figures are calculated as a weighted average by multiplying each assessed portfolio component's intensity figure with its respective position weight. Index intensities are provided alongside the portfolio intensities, highlighting the portfolio's relative carbon intensity. Only holdings mapped as sovereign bonds are included in the figures.

ESG Labeled Bonds

The ESG-labeled bond chart displays the portfolio's exposure to ESG-labeled bonds. Specifically, green bonds, social bonds, sustainability bonds, and sustainability-linked bonds. This is calculated as a sum of weights for those bonds in the portfolio that have one of above mentioned labels. Index exposure figures are provided alongside the portfolio exposure figures, highlighting the difference with the index.
